

REDUCE OPIOID RISK. GET A PharmAssist.

Drug overdose is the leading cause of adult accidental death in the country.

Naloxone is a life-saving medication for patients on opioids.

Naloxone is available without a prescription in the pharmacy.

Your insurance could pay for naloxone.

Ask your pharmacist about naloxone, treatment for opioid use disorder, and other strategies to save a life TODAY!*

UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

Produced with a grant from the Maryland Department of Health and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

DON'T RUN. CALL 911.

If YOU seek help for someone having an overdose, you are protected under Maryland's Good Samaritan Law. The Good Samaritan Law says that the person who needs help and anyone giving help will not be arrested/prosecuted for drug-related charges or violate parole/probation.

Reduce opioid risk
Get a PharmAssist.
Ask your pharmacist about naloxone TODAY!*

UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY