

Communicating about COVID-19 Testing to Underrepresented Groups

The FDA COVID-19 testing project is in the final stage.

The FDA COVID-19 testing project is in the final stage, where the project's deliverables – the manuscript and the “give back” - are under review. We got the Co-Investigator's feedback on the first draft of the manuscript and are making those changes. The “give back” is an infographic of the results for the community.

Upcoming activities:

- To get the FDA's approval for the “give back.”
- To turn in a revised manuscript and the final report to the FDA.
